

ABSTRACT

An apparatus, method, and system for controlling electronic devices with a remote master control device is disclosed. The apparatus, method, and system are especially useful for monitoring and controlling electronic devices such as televisions to 5 manage viewing habits and to supervise programming content presented by the electronic devices.